

Configuring a Network Cloud

This document provides guidelines for running OpenECOMP in a Network Cloud. A Network Cloud is a cloud hosting environment that additionally exposes the control and forwarding planes of the underlying network infrastructure. Virtual Network Functions require such interfaces, and, to meet performance demands, may also require specialized hardware support.

<<DocRef: VNF Network Cloud Specification for OpenECOMP (Example)>>